GARAGEMAHALS

In 2002, GarageMahals founder, Michael Rhodig, after owning several garages with plain epoxy floors and wood cabinets, decided that the garage area could be much more than the status quo. This vision led Rhodig, who provides the creative energy and style behind his company's unique creations, to spend the next three years developing the concept of GarageMahals before its launch in 2005.

GarageMahals provide design services for both large and small spaces, from single-car garages to massive multipurpose private facilities. Auto collectors as well as motorcycle, aircraft, and boating enthusiasts make up the majority of GarageMahals's clientele. Each design is unique and GarageMahals uses only the highest quality materials and workmanship to transform its clients' stark garage spaces into their own personal Garage Mahals.

GarageMahals transformation process begins with a consultation and conceptual design, including 3-dimensional computer modeling. The team □

VALENTI INTERNATIONAL

Known as the founders of traditional matchmaking, Valenti International is the only company of its kind that can help discrete, discerning and successful people worldwide in their quest for a suitable, compatible and enduring life partner. Not a dating agency, the Valenti process is based on a foundation of family values, specificity, dignity and confidentiality.

Valenti International was founded by Irene Valenti in 1990 to meet the needs of accomplished, intelligent and selective professional men and women who required highly personal service. For nearly two decades, Valenti International has been successfully introducing clients to the romance they want with the partner they need.

The Valenti process begins by completing a confidential online questionnaire or by phone. After a brief consultation, potential clients are scheduled for a profiling appointment with a staff psychologist and mutual goals are further evaluated. It is at this stage that the prospective client is either accepted into or declined from the Valenti program. Once accepted, the client meets with Valenti's matchmaking department which includes a team of on-site clinical psychologists and Irene Valenti. Each client is handled individually while searching for the right person and most clients can expect their first match within 30 days.

From busy executives to celebrities to entrepreneurs, Valenti International is a defining service for the elite with a high success rate in "matchmaking in the European tradition."

KIDDIE RIDES USA

Kiddie Rides USA is the last stand-alone kiddie ride company in America. Everything from helicopters, dragons, the Batmobile, unicorns and Donald Duck can be found among the company's long list of available kiddie rides.

For over half a century, kiddie rides have captured pop culture in miniature form. There have been hundreds, if not thousands, of different kiddie rides molded into all shapes, sizes and characters. They are entertainment for children and nostalgic American icons for adults.

A standard 110v outlet is required for operation and an average ride lasts one minute. For a small additional charge, the client can choose the vending price – outside the typical .25¢ charge – or to make the ride "free play" with the push of a button. The rides can also be set up to accept different forms of currency. For those clients who need a special added touch, Kiddie Ride USA can customize almost anything with a new paint job, a child's name and even a company logo.

Kiddie Rides USA sells new and used, or recrafted, kiddie rides. The company purchases rides as well.
